Gas Strategies Interview: Satvinder Singh, assistant CEO of International Enterprise (IE) Singapore

With the developing economies of Asia representing a vast chunk of future gas demand growth, the historical trading hub of Singapore is well positioned to benefit from a spike in LNG trade. International Enterprise (IE) Singapore, the city-state's government trade agency, is actively promoting opportunity and seeking to elevate Singapore's status as a future LNG hub. Gas Strategies spoke to assistant CEO Satvinder Singh on the sidelines of the Gastech conference and discussed IE Singapore's vision of the state's role in global LNG trade.
