Total adds to UK North Sea gas supply after firing up the Edradour and Glenlivet fields

Total has started production at its Edradour and Glenlivet gas and condensate fields, bringing online a much needed new source of North Sea supply, as the UK grapples with fears of gas shortages following the closure of the country's largest gas storage facility and dwindling North Sea production.

Total and its project partners Dong E&P (20%) and SSE (20%), said the development will produce up to...
