Libya working to bolster gas production at Bahr Essalam from May 2018

Libya's National Oil Corporation (NOC) expects first gas from the second development phase at its Bahr Essalam field to flow in May 2018, with the new volumes aimed at maintaining "the current production capacity of the field of gas and condensates for years to come", NOC said this week.

NOC is partnered at the offshore Bahr Essalam field with Eni through their joint venture Mellitah Oil & Gas, which is looking to ...
