The Swedegas interview: Johan Zettergren, CEO

Swedish grid operator Swedegas is one of the first European TSOs to fully embrace the growing 'green gas' sector, which the company sees as a crucial step towards decarbonising the gas and electricity sectors – and de-risking its assets. Gas Matters speaks to Swedegas CEO Johan Zettergren about Sweden's ambitious plan for the domestic gas grid to move 100% renewable supply by 2050, the prospects for liquified biogas (LBG) and the challenges involved in funding this carbon-neutral vision.
