Technip wins Brazil FLNG design tender; FID delayed to March

Local media and newswires reported on Tuesday that Brazil's Petrobras has named a consortium of Technip, JGC and Modec as the winner of a competition to design a floating LNG (FLNG) installation fed by fields in Brazil's ultra-deepwater Santos Basin. But a decision whether to proceed with the project has been delayed until March, Petrobras' director of gas and energy Maria Das Graças Silva Foster was quoted as saying.
