Cheniere Energy to use share offering to reimburse debt due in August

Cheniere Energy will use some of the $352 million it has raised through a public share offering – which closed on Tuesday – to reimburse debt due to be paid in August, Cheniere Energy president of supply and marketing, Jean Abiteboul told Gas Matters Today. Cheniere will then have until 2018 to address any remaining debt, but said it will look at this more closely once financing of the Sabine Pass liquefaction project in Louisiana is complete.
