Gazprom and EDF sign co-operation agreement on European gas power generation

Gazprom said on Friday it had signed a co-operation agreement with its South Stream partner, Electricite de France (EDF) to collaborate on gas-fired power plant development in Europe. The agreement provides the possibility of joint construction of gas-fired power plants and acquisitions of power plants on a parity basis. As part of the agreement, Gazprom will be the exclusive supplier of gas for any potential jointly operated plants.
