Shell's Ormen Lange gas field ramping up after plant hiccup

Royal Dutch Shell's Ormen Lange gas field in Norway is resuming production following technical problems at a processing plant over the weekend, according to reports on Tuesday. Output from the 70 MMcm capacity Nyhamna plant, which processes gas from Ormen Lange before it is shipped to Britain, was reduced by as much as 45 MMcm/d according to gas system operator Gassco data.
