Gas Matters Today interview: Dominique Ristori, director general energy, European Commission

The European Commission's new director general of energy is no stranger to the corridors of power in Brussels. Prior to his new posting, Dominique Ristori headed up the Joint Research Centre and between visual_editor006 and visual_editor010 was deputy DG Energy. He takes over the brief at a challenging time for European energy policy makers. Gas Matters Today joined him for a chat.
