The Shell Interview: Lauran Wetemans, general manager, downstream LNG at Shell International

Lauran Wetemans, Shell's general manager for downstream LNG, is pioneering the adoption of small-scale LNG, and leading Shell's global market development activities for introducing LNG as a fuel for marine, heavy-duty road transport and stationary applications. His portfolio includes Shell's activities with Gasnor in Norway, and actively building positions in North America, Europe, Middle East, China and Singapore.
