Santos hails Barossa field as front-runner to supply backfill gas to Darwin LNG

Australia's Santos has completed a two-well appraisal drilling campaign in the Barossa field in the Timor Sea, which could supply backfill gas to the Darwin LNG facility in the Northern Territory.

Well logs and pressure data from the Barossa 5 and 6 wells confirmed the primary Elang reservoir is "gas saturated and in pressure communication with previous wells drilled on the Barossa field", Santos said in a statement on Wednesday.
