ExxonMobil sets sail on LNG bunkering collaboration

ExxonMobil has joined forces with Eagle LNG and supply chain solution provider Crowley to expand and explore the development of LNG marine fuel capabilities, seeking to secure its stake in what is building up to become a competitive LNG bunkering market.

The three companies signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) earlier this week to establish the storage and technical support necessary to provide “safe, reliable LNG delivery” for vessel operators bunkering in the US state of Florida with plans to venture elsewhere in North America.
