Wartsila interview: Timo Koponen, vice president, flow and gas solutions

Finland-based global marine and energy solutions provider Wartsila has evolved from supplying gas engines into the full value chain of gas technologies. Timo Koponen, the company's vice president for flow and gas solutions, talked to LNG Business Review about Wartsila's progress and challenges in developing small- and micro-scale LNG projects, LNG bunkering demand and the case for flexible mixed-fuel power generation technologies in off-grid applications.
