

27 September 2021

Contents

New radical: Castillo's nationalisation talk rattles Peru's foreign investors
Publication date: 07 July 2021

Gas Strategies Group

10 Saint Bride Street
London UK
EC4A 4AD

ISSN: 0964-8496

T: +44(0) 20 7332 9900
W: www.gasstrategies.com
Twitter @GasStrategies

Editorials

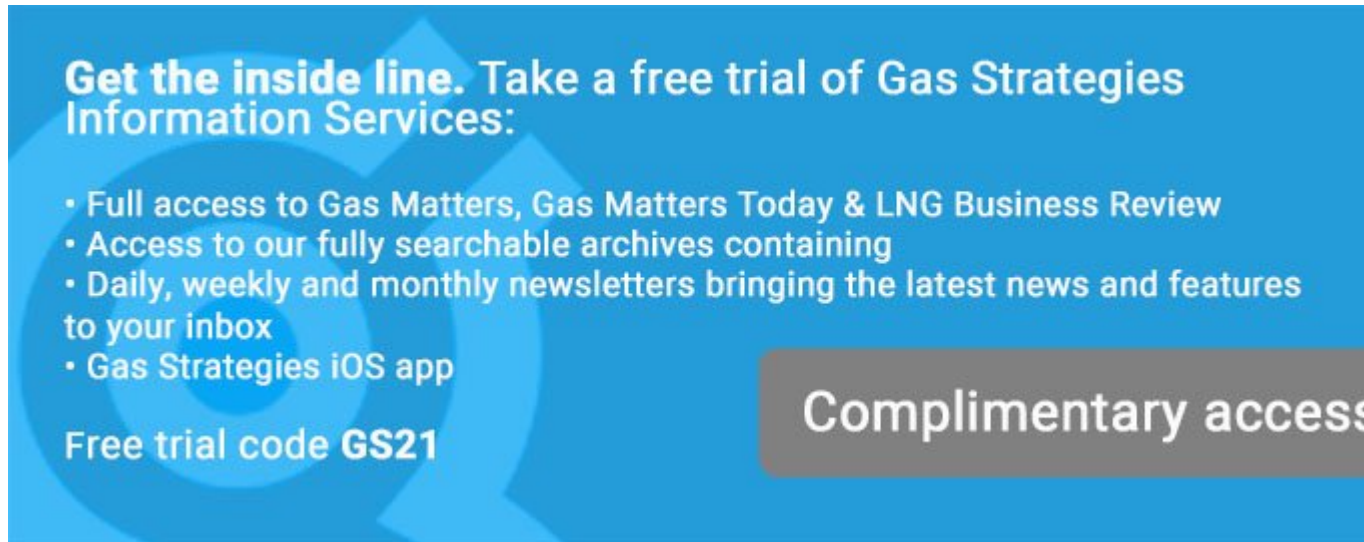

+44(0) 20 7332 9957
editor@gasstrategies.com

Subscriptions

+44(0) 20 7332 9976
subscriptions@gasstrategies.com

New radical: Castillo's nationalisation talk rattles Peru's foreign investors

Get the inside line. Take a free trial of Gas Strategies Information Services:

- Full access to Gas Matters, Gas Matters Today & LNG Business Review
- Access to our fully searchable archives containing
- Daily, weekly and monthly newsletters bringing the latest news and features to your inbox
- Gas Strategies iOS app

Free trial code GS21

Complimentary access

[1]

Left-wing firebrand Pedro Castillo is expected to become Peru's next president after a bitterly contested vote with right-wing populist Keiko Fujimori. Peru's business sector and foreign investors have been wary of a Castillo win. The former teacher has promised to nationalise strategic resources, including Peru's sole gas field, Camisea, which feeds Peru LNG. This could affect the export facility's stability, just as it plans to expand and optimise its operations, as well as disrupt the promising growth of Peru's natural gas sector. But with a razor-thin lead against Fujimori, Castillo may not be able to gather enough support in a divided Congress to carry out his nationalisation plans.

Consulting

+44 (0) 20 7332 9900
consult@gasstrategies.com

Alphatania Training

+44 (0) 20 7332 9910
training@gasstrategies.com

Information Services

+44 (0) 20 7332 9976
subscriptions@gasstrategies.com